Amico & Co is one of the world's major super yacht repair and refit centres.

Unlike many other yards, Amico & Co specialises only in this sort of work and has developed the facilities at its Genoa yard to meet the precise requirements of repair and refit.

Amico & Co can cater for all work, from a paintwork refresh right through to a major conversion job that might take a year or more. The yard can handle any type and size of yacht, including the latest generation of large sailboats, and its speciality is working on classic and antique yachts where dedicated care is required. The aim of Amico & Co is to complete each project on time and on budget.

The large number of clients who bring their yachts back to the Amico shipyard for repeat work is testimony to the dedicated service and skill that Amico & Co brings to repair and refit work. Amico & Co is a world leader in this field and has the in-house skills and management to make each job a satisfying experience for owners, captains, managers and crews as well as for the shipyard itself.

The company has invested continuously in design and technical knowledge and in the latest concepts of dedicated service infrastructure, which has allowed the Amico & Co shipyard to develop highly technical and specific management capabilities.
